DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-11, drawn to subclass 1, classified in class 382, subclass 232.
 - II. Claims 12-15, drawn to subclass 2, classified in class 382, subclass 232
 - III. Claims 16-32, drawn to subclass 3, classified in class 382, subclass 239.
 - IV. Claims 33-42, drawn to subclass 4, classified in class 382, subclass 233.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The invention claimed in claims 1-11 refers to constructing a reference matrix and preventing data elements from being written into memory. The invention claimed in claims 12-15 refer to reading a reference matrix, and preventing data elements from being read from memory. The invention claimed in claims 16-32 uses a register module for storing the reference matrix, with no mention of "constructing a reference matrix." The invention claimed in claims 33-42 deals with frequency domain, transformation, and providing an output matrix. These subcombinations are separately usable, as claims 1-11 constructs a reference matrix, claims 12-15 reads from memory based upon a default, claims 16-32 have separate application in using a memory and register module for storing the reference matrix, and claims 33-42 refer to decoding and producing an output matrix.

2. Inventions "reading and writing matrices," "storing a matrix," and "decoding a matrix" are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination 4 has separate utility such as decoding and producing an output matrix. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;

- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

1. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
